

BMO Central News Item - July 1 (linked from banner)

On July 1, BMO launched an upgrade to myHR, providing a new way to access “all things HR”. Whether you are in the office, working remotely or using your own computer, myHR is available.

In the office or working remotely

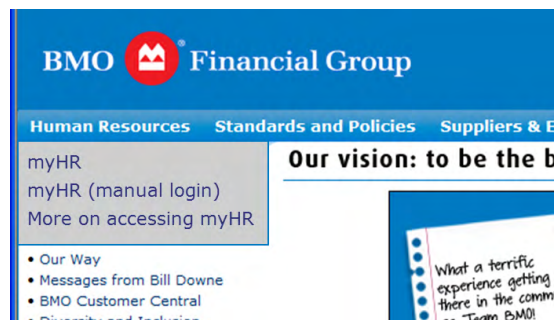

When you are in the office or connected through remote access, go to BMO Central and select the Human Resources tab. You will see two options - “myHR” and “myHR (manual login)”.

1. myHR - most BMO employees can use this link to connect to myHR directly. No additional login is needed when you are logged into the bank’s network.
2. myHR (manual login) - some employees (i.e., those on the M&I Connect platform, on leave, or using shared network IDs) must connect to myHR manually. Choosing this option will direct you to a login page at <https://myhr.bmogc.com>.*

Using your own computer

You can also access myHR using your own computer through the login page at <https://myhr.bmogc.com>.*

Questions? Please contact the Human Resources Centre at 1-888-927-7700.

* The first time you access myHR through the login page at <https://myhr.bmogc.com>, you will be prompted to set up a username, password and security questions. You will need your username and password each time you access myHR through the login page at <https://myhr.bmogc.com>.
